

Waterbirds in Decline – Eastern Australian Wetlands Survey Annual Report 2016

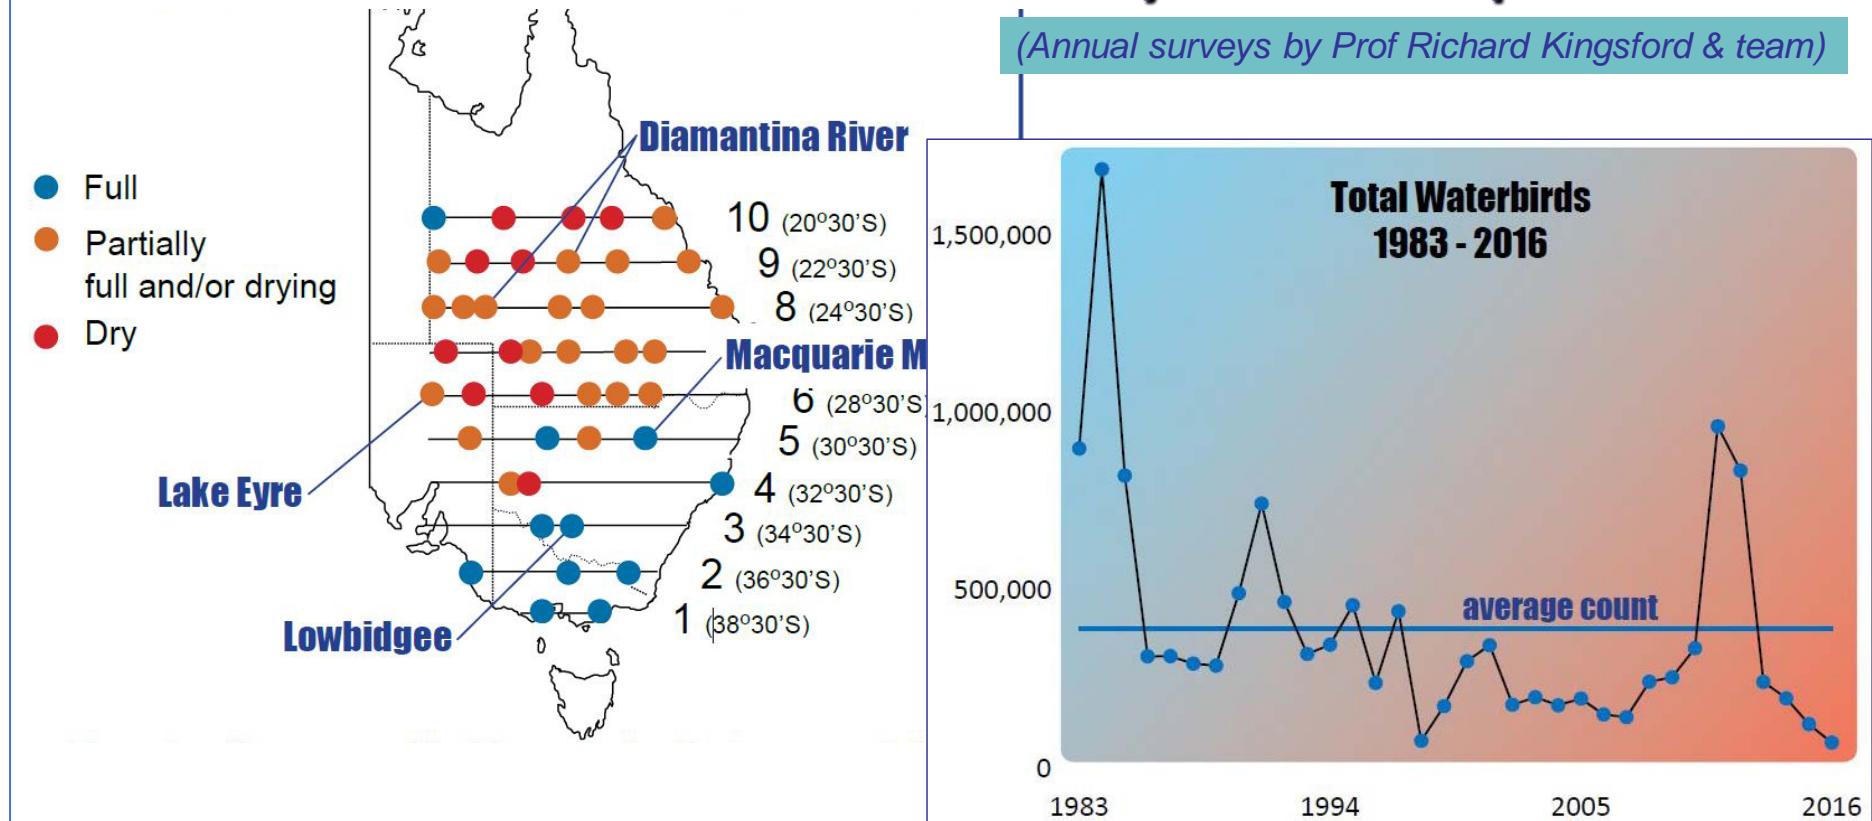

Figure 1 Waterbird populations are showing serious continuing decline, in spite of floods in 2010-2012. Data from 2017 shows only a slight recovery from the short 2016 flood, with total numbers still only 200,000 (Porter et al., 2016, 2017)